Local financial adviser named as one of the top 50 in Australia

Local financial adviser Peter Nonnenmacher has been named one of Australia's Top 50 financial advisers by premier US financial magazine Barron's.

Peter is the Director of Hillross Macarthur, where he has helped his clients and the community of Macarthur pursue their financial goals for more than 30 years.

The Barron's Top 50 rates financial advisers using a number of criteria, including their experience, professional credentials, practice quality and performance and their philanthropic work.

Peter said it was pleasing to be recognised as a valued member of the local community.

"I really enjoy helping people get control of their finances and put in place a plan to achieve their financial goals," Peter said.
